Florida Light-Frame Truss Marking Law
Florida Statute 633.027 (2008)
Aldridge-Benge Firefighter Safety Act

The law requires the owner of any commercial, industrial or any multi-unit residential structure of three units or more, that uses light-frame truss-type construction to mark the structure with a sign or symbol approved by the State Fire Marshal in a manner sufficient to warn persons conducting fire control and other emergency operations of the existence of light-frame truss type construction in the structure.

The Aldridge-Benge Firefighter Safety Act became law on December 13, 2009. The Aldridge-Benge Firefighter Safety Act was named in honor of Orange County firefighters Todd Aldridge and Mark Benge, who died in 1989 after the truss roof of a gift shop collapsed.

NOTICE TO COMPLY Florida Administrative Code 69A-3.012 requires the installation the required symbol(s) within ninety (90) days of the effective date of this code or by March 20, 2010.

The Monroe County Fire Marshal's Office will do our best to assist you in determining the type of roof and floor systems in your building. However, it may be necessary to have a building professional assist you in making that determination.
